

Our Instructors

All of our instructors are Internationally Certified Photographic Counselors

Jerry Harmen has been the owner of Madison PhotoPlus for over 30 years. Jerry takes pride in how his store is dedicated to customer service, and what better way to give his customers the very best than making sure they know how to use their cameras in the most effective way to create memories they can treasure for the rest of their lives.

Eric Kazmirek is the organizer of the Better Imaging Photo School. Eric has been with Madison PhotoPlus for eight years, and has been giving personal photographic instruction and workshops for nine years. Eric has Bachelor of Arts Degrees in Behavioral Science and Philosophy from Drew University.

Lynne Harmen is co-owner of Madison PhotoPlus and The Photo Summit. As a former educator, Lynne has brought her expertise to our imaging school. She especially enjoys photographing nature and animals while traveling. Lynne is also an avid figure skater.

Bret Harmen is a graduate of the Rochester Institute of Technology with a degree in Photo Science. He spent 6 years working for Fuji Hunt Photo Chemicals as a technician and is excited to be back with our company. Bret enjoys shooting nature, sports, and candid photos, and is familiar with many of the new challenges the digital world can provide.

These classes fill up quickly!

As a reminder, please book your seat as early as possible. There have been many instances when there were no seats available 3-5 days before the evening of the class. We hate to turn people away, but to keep the group to a personal, manageable size, we are forced to apply class size limits. We hope you understand and continue to check back for new and repeat classes.

In the event of a class cancellation on our part, you will be notified no later than one business day in advance.

Please e-mail any questions or comments to Eric at kaz@madisonphoto.com
